

AN INSPIRATIONAL, INFORMATIVE, FIRST-OF-ITS-KIND COLLECTION OF SURVIVAL STORIES FROM PEOPLE OF ALL WALKS OF LIFE!

Lymphoma is the most common blood cancer, with more than 65,000 new cases diagnosed each year in the United States alone. It has taken the lives of such people as former First Lady Jackie Kennedy Onassis, baseball great Roger Maris, country western icon Gene Autry, punk rocker Joey Ramone and flying legend Charles Lindbergh. But lymphoma, in its various forms, still does not receive the amount of public attention or financial support that many other cancers receive.

In this first-of-its-kind book, Jamie Reno brings together a diverse group of lymphoma survivors to share their remarkable stories. The people in this book come from all walks of life, but they share a strong will to live and have all made their own informed decisions about their cancer treatment. Their stories are filled with courage, compassion, and hope.

Jamie Reno is an award-winning journalist. The longtime Newsweek correspondent has also written for the New York Times, Rolling Stone, Sports Illustrated, ESPN, USA Today, People, TV Guide, Entertainment Weekly, and the Los Angeles Times Syndicate. Jamie is also an acclaimed singer-songwriter, patient advocate, and 15-year survivor of stage IV non-Hodgkin's lymphoma. He lives in San Diego with his wife, Gabriela and their daughter, Mandy.

"Hope Begins in the Dark contains wisdom, inspiration and solid practical advice. It's a 'must' book that should be read by anyone who has ever dealt with a lymphoma diagnosis. Through Jamie's own story and that of 40 survivors of lymphoma we learn about all aspects of coping with a lymphoma diagnosis and treatment. Each person tells a story that combines hope, information, and guidance about making every day the best possible day."
