* When a student group consists of fewer than 11 students, statewide indicator results are not reported because it is difficult to protect student privacy with so few students. For groups of 11–29 students, the Dashboard lists the status and change data but does not display a color-coded performance level because status and change data are particularly sensitive to individual student performance when sample sizes are small. Even one very high or very low score can pull the average significantly up or down. In these cases, the public can review the numerical data about status and change, but a gray gauge with the words "no performance color" will be displayed where the colored gauge would appear
